

OPEN CALL

newpolyphonies
Myriam van Imschoot and HYOID voices
Maerzmusik, Berlin

What?

Myriam Van Imschoot and the vocal ensemble HYOID created newpolyphonies, a vocal performance-concert inspired by the sounds in nature and the world that surround us. A keen listener will hear a lot of different sounds in this work: the roar of aircraft engines, the singing of the grasshopper, the buzzing of bees or flies. It is a subtle journey in a world of sound that reveals how everything in our existence is full of vibrations and frequencies, from the smallest critters, bodies and bones, to the higher spheres.

Four singers of HYOID share the stage with a group of 15 participants, who are open to the bizarre and magical sound world that is the starting point of the artistic work of Myriam van Imschoot.

Would you like to participate?

We are looking for people in and around Berlin who are free to participate in the rehearsals (workshops) + to perform in the shows. Vocal experience is not required, as long as you have curiosity and an ear for sound.

What does it entail?

Everything happens in Silent Green Kulturquartier, Gerichtstraße 35 13347 Berlin. We follow all measures related to covid-19.

Rehearsals/workshops

Saturday 19 March 19:00 - 22:00

Sunday 20 March 18:00 - 21:00

Dress rehearsal and performances

Mon 21 March 18:00 - 22:00 (the general rehearsal)

Tue 22 March 18:00 - 23:30 (shows at 20:00 and at 22:00)

We provide a volunteer fee of 35 euro for the day of the general rehearsal and the day of the performances, 70 euro in total.

We promise a unique experience, full of subtle sounds!

Send a few lines about yourself and why you'd like to join, to karen@hiros.be, before 7 March.

Feel free to share this open call!
